One year after his failed invasion of Britain, Julius Caesar came back across the sea. This time he brought with him five legions and 2,000 cavalrymen.

The Roman army fought in South East England and this time got to the other side of the River Thames.

The British tribes agreed to pay tributes to Rome and were left in peace. Caesar did not think Britain was worth a long war and he had other problems in the Empire to deal with. The Celts opened up trading links with the Romans.
