

Half-Term Art Challenge

Some of you have been exploring the art of famous illustrators this term. We have looked at and copied the illustrations of Quentin Blake, Jan Pienkowski, Lauren Child and Raymond Briggs. For this challenge I would like you to design a book cover for your autobiography- a story all about you!

Your book cover will need a title...your name written large in a style that reflects your character.

It will need to include images of all the things you like...and maybe don't like. You can use digital, collage, texture, and any colours you like but remember you are trying to entice somebody to read your story.

Hints- It's a good idea to design a border around the edges to make your page stand out.

If you really enjoy playing games on your digital devices- don't draw the device-draw the characters from the games you like playing.

Have fun and I really look forward to seeing your designs- Best wishes , Mrs Ledda.
